

A close-up photograph of black leather with gold stitching, likely from a high-quality bag or suitcase. The leather has a pebbled texture, and the stitching is done in a double-stitch pattern. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the texture and the contrast between the black leather and the gold thread.

CRAFTED FOR LEADERS

EXCLUSIVITY THAT

YOU CAN SHAPE.

Excellence and comfort do not begin the moment you sit down. They start earlier: in attitude, design, and care. In the decision not only to do things well, but to do them consistently right.

ray executive is designed for spaces where responsibility is carried – conference areas and high-quality workplaces that convey professionalism without dominating the room. Its presence is clear and quietly confident. For that exact reason, it creates space for what truly matters: conversation, focus, and decision-making.

Conference rooms are more than simply meeting spaces. They are places where attitude becomes visible – through architecture, materials, and the quality of the furnishings. ray executive integrates seamlessly into this environment and enhances the room's impact without dominating the space.

The perfectly coordinated upholstered cushions shape the sculptural silhouette and ensure a high level of seating comfort. A functional highlight is the synchronised mechanism with automatic weight adjustment, which can be individually adapted to provide optimal support for movement.

The ideal height for every conversation.

Contrast or tone-on-tone: decorative stitching adds a precise, handcrafted accent and sharpens the contours of ray executive. Eleven thread colours are available for the contrast stitching, which can be subtly matched or deliberately contrasting.

With ray executive, customisation becomes a design feature: upholstery can be finished in single-colour or two-tone versions, with the option of two different leather colours or leather on the outside and fabric on the inside. Optionally, perforated leather on the inner surfaces improves air circulation. Elegantly integrated controls on the underside adjust the seat height, backrest resistance, and locking/unlocking of the backrest. Additional branding options, such as embossing or embroidery, are available on request to provide further scope for individual design.
